THE NEWS SUMMARY.

The forecast for to-day for Virginia is for cooler, fair weather, westerly winds; for North Carolina, slightly cooler fair weather, westerly winds.

Both branches of the General Assembly were in session yesterday—in the Senate by resolution, by request, introduced a bill permitting Mrs. Miller, of Danville, to practice law in this State. A committee will be appointed to inquire into the status of the members of the State Agricultural Society.—A bill was introduced to incorporate the Industrial, Railway and Improvement Company.—The House of Delegates is becoming restive. Much routine was transacted by both the houses.—Rev. Henry D. Price, of Lynchburg, is in the city.—The Richmond, Chester, Butler and Miles Company was incorporated.—The will of William L. Cowardin was probated.—Graduates of the Richmond High School and the colored normal school are announced.

A number of new public school teachers have been named to duty.—The central committee of the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities made an encouraging report of the results of the Colonial Assembly.—Beggars are plentiful on the streets.—Democratic members of the Senate, in caucus, considered the soldiers' old bill and the subject of the appointment of the boards of visitors of various public institutions. The Motormen and Conductors' Association of the Chesapeake and Ohio thanked The Times for full reports of their meetings.—Mayo's bill to be converted into a park—Virginia has sold her $8,000 shares of C. & O. stock.—A public meeting regarding James River harbor lines will be held this morning in the Chamber of Commerce.—The Henrico County court case will be argued to-day.

VERGINIA.

William Monroe was sentenced to hang March 21.—The colored secret society, the True Reformers' New Hall—Mrs. E. F. Nichols, well-known colored secret DANVILLE, Va., Feb. 14.—[Special.] The True Reformers, a well-known colored secret society, recently purchased a hall in this city, and last night dedicated the same to the use of the order. The ceremony was very interesting. The report was delivered by Mr. John H. Nichols, of Richmond, a prominent member of the order.

The summary removal of Mrs. E. P. Nicholas, the wife of a well-known Republican from the postmastership of North Danville is exciting much comment.

Major Elyson of Richmond spent the day in Danville.—George Hoyt, of Danville, so dangerously ill of pneumonia.—News of the death of Col. Corbin M. Reynolds of Botetourt county, was received with regret at Lynchburg.—The fight over the high bridge at Lynchburg is very warm.—A minor cyclone passed over North Danville—so was begun at Danville about January 6, Penn, for $10,000 damage.—Mr. Robert W. Price, a merchant of Greenbrier, caught sight of his son, E. D. Davis, in trial at Martinsville.—The case of William Miller was given to the jury at Lexington.—A heavy hand-side occurred on Monday.

Leeburgers are preparing for the Confederate reunion on the 25th.—A young woman attempted to stab a young man on the streets of Alexandria.—Thunder and lightning accompanied a rain storm at Alexandria.

A wing of R. C. Martin's Co.'s factory, at Petersburg, Feb. 10.—John Harrison was injured in a fall from a horse in Susquehanna county.

Mr. D. P. Hoyt, the city coroner, is quite ill with pneumonia and is not expected to live.

On the 30th of May last, during a severe winter storm, a six-story brick building, containing a tobacco factory, was blown down and six men killed. A lengthy legal investigation followed, and the condition of the walls, etc., was duly considered. Today P. J. Brown, one of the men killed, commenced a damage suit against James G. Penn for the sum of ten thousand dollars. The case will be tried at April term of the Hustings Court of Danville, and it may be followed by several trials.

A severe winter storm, something on the cyclone order, passed over this section this morning, beginning about 4 a. m., and lasting until 10. Several fences and chimneys were blown down in the city, and a two-story frame building occupied by colored people was demolished.

Two colored women and a child were in the house at the time and the escape from instant death was miraculous. As it was, one woman had her shoulder dislocated and the child was slightly injured. In the same town another house was unroofed.

FROM LYNCHBURG.

The Death of Colonel Corbin M. Reynolds.—The Fight Over the High Bridge.

LYNCHBURG, Va., Feb. 14.—[Special.] The second day session of the Young Men's Christian Association State Convention was an interesting one. After opening with prayer, the following standing committees were appointed:

Business—E. T. Sheffey, T. J. Barron, T. D. Wilkinson, Walter Bray and Edmund Clegg.

On Credentials—R. E. White, D. Hall Wilson and W. W. Newberg.

On Resolutions—W. F. McCaughan, J. G. Scott, John W. Paxton, H. L. Upsher and S. Eastburn.

On Pastoral Meetings—J. W. Adams, F. C. Johnson, C. M. Lumsford and D. J. Weisiger.

State Executive Report—Frank Alexander, Simon C. Ward, A. Smiller, Rev. C. D. Moore and W. J. French.

President O. Y. Smith was called to the chair and returned his thanks for the honor of the vice-presidency, and extended the convention a hearty welcome to the city of Lynchburg.

This will be the first time the State showing the work of the past year, and what was being done by the respective associations, property owned, etc.

The reports generally showed the work to be vigorous and creditable, and the convention, after a short recess, adjourned.

The reports of the stockholders of the Petersburgh Gas Light Company was held at the office of the company at noon to-day, when the following officers were elected: President, John G. Dunn; Board of Directors, Alexander Domian, Dr. H. G. Leigh, John McNeil, Nelson T. Patterson, and David Dunlop; Superintendent and Secretary, William D. Baxter; Treasurer, Wm. P. Spotswood. The usual reports were received, read and voted.

Thomas A. Stirling, who is to be in Charlotte next week, during the next year, was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jameson, negro, died of a crushed skull.—There is a prospect of a big tobacco planting this year.—Council for Cross and White, bank managers, expect to secure an arrest of the fugitives.

Mr. Price to-day called a change of way, the price of tobacco to be paid by the Hounds, and will therefore pay a little less.

It looks as if the convention had narrowed down to Washington against the field.—The nomination of James G. Penn, as collector of customs, was to be taken up at the annual meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association.

NORTH CAROLINA.

Thomas A. Stirling, who is to be in Charlotte next week, during the next year,

Big was hanged in San Francisco for the murder of his uncle, Wong Wing Lee.—Mr. Robert Garrett, ex-president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, has been taken from his home, but it is not known where.

The finding of the body of Hiriam Sautelle in the woods near Lebanon, Mass., shows that a horrible murder has been committed.

In a sparring match at Dallas, Texas, in which Jake Kilrain's troupe exhibited, Mr. James of Dallas, was killed by the person of Miss Fannie, Mr. Frank Williams' daughter.

They were to return and have a honeymoon here, and then go off on a long trip north. And the girl was to meet him on the 9 o'clock train.

Now, he is dead. At 12:30 this morning James died, and the entire combination except Kilrain was put under arrest on a charge of murder. Kilrain was so overcome that he wept like a child. A few hours later James' remains were interred in the cemetery.

It is generally supposed that James was broken, but one doctor gives it as his opinion that James died of paralysis of the heart.

All the parties, except Benzia, were arrested.

JAKE KILRAIN'S TROUPE.

A Sparring Match Which Ended in a Massacre.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 14.—A special from Dallas, Tex., to the Post-Dispatch says:

"Jake Kilrain and his traveling troupe arrived at the Opera House last night. It was intended to have only a sparring and wrestling match. After some unequal sparring by others Tom James, of Dallas, encountered Benzia, the combination changing light weight, for $2,000, and James was knocked out in a few rounds. Benzia was then hit in the head, and a close watch will be kept upon him while he is in confinement.

Regarding his confederates there has been nothing ascertained. There is great excitement here over the finding of the body, and search for the missing portions will be vigorously prosecuted.
